

Neonatal Resuscitation Training Sign Off

Due: end of first year of core time in training*

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS

1. There is no formal neonatal resuscitation (NR) training module or workshop. Trainees are expected to receive NR training in the course of their in-hospital training in their first year of Core time in training. This page must be signed off by your Training Supervisor or other RANZCOG Fellow responsible for providing your NR training.
2. This page is documentary evidence that you have completed the NR requirement.
3. Once signed, please upload this page to the Additional Requirements section of the Online Training Portfolio.
4. If all of the above is not done, you will be regarded as not having met a Core assessment requirement for your first year of Core time in training and your 6-monthly report will automatically be rated Not Satisfactory.

Time in training is the aggregate of all time in the relevant component of the FRANZCOG Training Program. This includes standard leave but not time taken as approved extended leave of absence or approved research leave as part of the 'Academic Stream'. Approved fractional training time (i.e. Full- Time Equivalent training undertaken on a part-time basis) will be considered pro rata. Time in training applies ONLY to trainees commencing training from December 2013.
